WASHINGTON PASTORS—NO. VIII.

REV. SAMUEL S. WOODROW.

Rev. Samuel S. Woodrow is the most recent addition to the long list of prominent Washington preachers, as he accepted on Sunday the call to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church, which for the past year has been without a pastor. A unanimous call was extended to Dr. Woodrow some weeks ago, and it was gratifying news to the trustees to learn that he would take up his duties immediately. Dr. Woodrow will come May 1, from the Hope Congregational Church, of Springfield, Mass., where he has been in charge for about ten years. He was born in Melbourne, Canada, in 1862, and received his early education in Maine schools before entering Bates College, from which he was graduated in 1883. His course in college was a fruitful one, as he received medals in oratory, rhetoric, and English, besides editing the college magazine. During his summer vacations he occupied himself with preaching in the Maine towns, and after his graduation he was called to the pastorate of the Congregational church the Maine towns are after which he can be compared for a year after which he can at Mechanics Falls, Me., where he remained for a year, after which he entered the Yale Divinity School, from which he was graduated with high honors in 1892. In the same year he received a unanimous call to the Hope Congregational Church, in Springfield. During his incumbency there he has paid nearly $10,000 on the church debt, besides organizing many flourishing societies. In 1903 he was given the degree of D. D. by Bates College. Since going to Springfield he has been vice president of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Society, president of the Congregational Club, and a trustee of the Hartford School of Religious Pedagogy. In 1888 he married Miss Annie Clough, and has two children. Dr. Woodrow has a great reputation as a pulpit orator and as a theological scholar, besides being a capable manager and experienced organizer. The trustees of the church, who for the past year have been carrying on its services, are Col. John Tweedale, Daniel Fraser, A. M. Lothrop, A. M. Skinner, Prof. Isaac Clark, George P. Whittlesy, and Miss Fairchild.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES.

With to-morrow-Passion Sunday-the molemn part of Lent begins; the forty-sect solemn part of Lent begins; the forty-second Psalm and the Doxology are omitted in the mass, and the images in the churchet are veiled in violet. The name, Passion Sunday, is very ancient, yet no author, ancient or mediaeval, has been found who mentions the veiling of images. It is said to refer to the last words of the gospel for the day: "Jesus hid Himzelf and went out of the temple." 'Zesus hid Himzelf and went out of the temple." Catholics are called upon to occupy themselves in a spiritual manner in mediation and veneration of the passion of Christ, from Passion Sunday until Easter, the feast of the glorious resurrection of our Saviour.
